, Monto - Carlo.

Since the death of M. Blanc, the promoter of the gaming tables at Monto Carlo, which occurred a few years ago. (that of Mmc. Blanc transpired in 1881), the Casino continues to prosper in the most surprising manner. now interested in the undertaking are the members of the Blane family-viz. Edmond Blanc, son and heir, and the Princes Radziwill and Roland Bona parte, who married daughters of M. Blane. They are the principal share-holders; novertheless, a few shares are said to be in the hands of the Mayor of Nice and other high-standing function aries of that city.

There are three hundred of these shares, each one representing one hundred undivided parts. Each share at the outset was worth 50,000 francs; their actual value is difficult to tell. At al events, if offered for saln they would attain a fabulous price, seeing the phe-nomenal profits annually realized by the roulette and eard tables. Hitherto the owners of the Casino have appeared to be satisfied with their annual prefits which permitted the daughters of M Blane to be dowered with 20,000,000 francs each, irrespective of the enormous revenue which falls to the lot of each shareholder. But although not openly debated, the idea of a tunnelat coup has for a long time been meditated, and the following is a rough outline of the scheme: The three hundred shares as they not stand (one hundred undivided part each) are to be converted into sixty thou-and coupures (thereby doubling the thirty thousand undivided parts) and these compares, or compans, will then he offered to the public at the price of 1,000 france each. The operation is unquestionably a bold one; neverthe less, despite its fundastic proportions, i will evidently find favor with the French And why not? The receipts for last year amounted to 15,000,000 francs. This project for converting the Casi no of Monte Carlo into a public affai has been generally approved by the actual stockholders. M. Blane's dignity suffers from the fact that the source of his revenue is a gambling hell. Prince-Bomparte and Radziwill parlake of that view, and would not be leath to sever their connection, once and for ever, with the institution of Monte Car lo: above all, under such favorable at spices, Prince Charles, on being appris of this resolution, was somewhat startled, naturally dreading the revolution in his affairs that such a transaction would entail. However, he was brought around to the views of the majority the judicious counsel of his father con fessor, and was even led to take a mor decided step. Hie has given his consen to relinquishing all further interventio in the concerns of Casino, and in return for this abdication his yearly pension will be increased to 1,000,000 frames. The contemplated issue of the new shares may be expected soon. The date of issue will be settled at the next take place in Paris. The magnificent Casino of Monte Car lo is annually visited by an average o 600,000 foreigners, who play more o less at roulelle or trente-et-quarante and this number is steadily on the in crease. The impunity with which gambling is carried on at Monaco may be explained by the fact that any attempt to suppress it would be equivalent to touching the prerogatives of Charles III., and any such departure would suscitate an "international question," which neither of the neighboring pow ers is inclined to open; a question which, probably, would lead to serious complications. Moreover, the independence of the principality is fully as sured by treaty. — Cor. N. Y. Tribunc

Throughout the Isles timber is a rare and precious article, most frequently the gift of ocean. The man who secures a good log of driftwood has obtained a prize worth having. It may have been a brave old tree, tempest-tora from its home in some distant forest, carried to the gos by rushing forwaves and wafted to and fro by many a current, ero it drifted to its rest on these far isles. Or it may be the mast of spars, or perchance the cargo of som wreeked vessel-whatever its story it treasure-trove, and most deeply valued. Though incrusted with barnacles of riddled by pholades it can all be turned to good account; the smallest piece wil make a stool or a settle, or a box, or part of a door; while large timbers be-come rafters—precious helrlooms, for a roung couple can not wed till they have their thatch, and should they have ore easien to "flit," the only pure of their bothy that commands any pecuniary compensation is the roof, not the wood work only, but also the heavy thately saturated with thick greasy post-reek (in other words with a thick conting o soot). This, when broken up, forms valuable manure for the unfertile croft

Poor, indeed, are many of these isl and homes, generally consisting only o two rooms: an outer byre for the entile until recent years all such bothics had a fire-place in the middle of the floor, round which the whole family night gather and equally share its confort. But now most houses have the fire-place at one end of the house, and though the smoke generally contrives to wonder at will among the rafters (forming a blu haze stinging to the unaccustomed eyes, and at last resolving itself into the rich browns so dear to the artistic mind), it does sometimes find a wide, npen chimney prepared for its escape. But more frequently a hole in the thatch is the only means of egress, a hole per-haps crowned with an old herring-barrel in liou of chimney-can; this, ever, is an elegant superfluity, to while few aspire. All, however, must take the precaution of tying on their roofs with a network of ropes, and weight them with large stones, in order to resist the wild gusts of wind, which would carry off any ordinary cottage roof.

As a general rule these bothies are too wretched to be even picturesque, yet here and there I recall one, which, happily rendered on canyas, migh

Fleury's Spring Talk!

NO. 306

When purchasing your Spring Outfit how much pleasanter it is, both to buyer and salesman, to have a large and well-selected stock to pick from. If you don't like a Sack Coat, why then there are lots of Frock Suits to look at. If you consider them not dressy enough, there is nothing nicer than a Four-Button Cutaway.

All the above mentioned goods we are displaying in a variety of styles seldom equaled in ordinary clothing stores, and in conjunction with these we are showing all the nobby and late styles' of Hats, both in soft and stiff; and new Neckwear in the most delicate tints and shades.

Our BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S stock is replete with the latest novelties for the season, not forgetting good plain goods for little money. Also new Hats. We have the Spinning Top and Base Ball Hats, which entitles the purchaser of one to either a top or ball.

It is generally conceded though that we are at the top of the hill when speaking of MERCHANT TAILORING. In this department we are showing as fine a line of piece goods as the most fastidious would wish to select from.

In conclusion we heartily invite your visit, and are sure it will repay you.

The withdrawal of Clov. Hamilton from the gubernatorial contest is the theme of conversation in all circles. A Springfield special of yesterday

A correspondent sounded a few politicians in regard to Hamilton's withdrawal. Benator Hunt said he was not surprised. Judge Tipton expressed a belief that it was the best thing to do. Senator Ragerussid it was all Hamilton could do. Shoriff Hanchett believed Hamilton should have remained in the fight, as, in his opinion, Hamilton might have won. Bonator Needles said there was nothing but defeat staring Hamailton to the face He was disgusted because it left no fight in the campaign. Dr. Jayne said Hamilton was growing when and he was glad of it. There was still some prospect for the young man. N. W. Branerd said Hamilyoung man. N. W. A Navy and Tars to Man It-Address Miss Columbia

Washington, D. C., March 28.-Some days ago the Osince left. Philadelphia for a cruise to Chlun, lighted with electricity and manned by the favorite officers of the Navy. She was heralded as the finest ship in the Navy. Secretary Chandler and a party of friends went down to Inspect the vessel. In their short pleasure trip the officers managed to run aground, and there remained for several hours. Chand fer thought some of ordering a court of Inquiry, but was Induced not to do so Wednesday the Osines started for New York, but through some carelessness the steam condensor broke, and a tag was ordered to tow the helpless Oslpeo back to Norfolk. In doing so the gallant tars can her aground again just off Ft. Norfolk. She will now have to be repaired at large expense because of the damage caused by Drumtoing the Desertors Out of Cump WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28 .- No at empt will be made to take up the tariff bill before week after next. It is probable that three appropriation bills, penston bill, Indian bill and agricultural bill. will be passed before the tariff bill will be considered. Hundall says he will push these bills vigorously.

HANDATA<sup>1</sup>8 GAME. Revenue reform Democrats do not desire to do ex-Speaker Randall Injustice, nor do they desire that, in their efforts to pass a tariff blil, they should be thwarted by Randall and his followers, without a clear understanding of the situation by the country. The protectionists and their newspaper organs are sound ing Randall's praises, and are predicting his complete victory over his revenue return opponents. Randall is very much delighted by this adualtion, and, in conversation with protection friends, expresses complacent confidence of the deicat of tariff legislation. Randall is playing his favorite game of bluff. He protesser that over fitty Democratic mombers of the House will follow him. He knows better. He knows that a considerable adoption of the caucus resolution will ofe for the passage of the tariff bill.

now he will vote. It is well that it should be understood hat Randall openly disregards the formal action of the cancus and declares une quivocatly that he will vote against taking ip the tariff bill even for consideration. It has not been supposed that he would go so far, but he now says that If he can prevent it by lift yote, he will refuse to ernit the Democratic members of and over two-thirds of the Democratic members of the House, to take up and ills case in committee of the whole the tar Iff bill now on the calendar. Randall's yote will not be needed. The Democratic majority of the House will reach and condder the tariff bill in spile of Randall's opposition. They have the parlimentary frength to do it, and they will use that Signally Defeated. Wysmington, D. C., March 28,-The House surprised itself yesterday by deout the enacting chaise was made by a Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee. If none of the Republicans had voted, even, the bilt would lave been beaten by twenty-four majurity. The action yesterday indicates beyond all doubt that during the present Congress no legislation affecting the laws relating to distilled spirits will be passed, The amount of three years' whisky, which will be forced out of bond between now and the first of next January Isabout

Roberts' Proposition. Washington, D. C., March 27.—Geo. Roberts was again before the Senate annittee to advocate the proposed posfal telegraph company handling the nos tal business. Roberts said the company was disposed to make any alterations in the original proposition in order to make Il conform to the wishes of the Committee, the object of the company being princhally to perfect a working arrangement with the Government.

The Trade Dollar.

Washington, D. C., March 28,--The trade dollar bill, which was taken up it the house yesterday. To-morrow is private bill day. An attempt will be made to amend the trade-dollar bill by inserting ment will probably be declared to be out of order. It is not unlikely that the prolour question will be ordered on the bill as it now stands, thus shutting off amendments and substitutes. In that event the bill will be passed as reported by the Collage Committee.

Trial Bottles of this sure cure for all that party. About fifty years ago a similar disagreement occurred, and Swearingen & Hubbard's Drug Store the anti-tariff wing of the party got so desperate that they attempted to nullify the laws passed for the protection of American manufactures. But Andrew Jackson happened to be President, and he said, "I will make no compromise with traitors; I will execute the laws: the Federal Union must and shall be preserved." And the Democratic "revenue reformers" of that period were accord-received from the Secretary of the Treasury, notified the United States Consuls at all the principal emigration ports of Europe, that trade dollars in large quantities are being purchased in New York for export for the supposed view of putting them off at par on emigrants about to embark for this country. The Secreary suggests that the Consuls do all ic their power to prevent emigrants to the United States from being imposed upon in regard to the real value of the trade dollar and take such measures necessary or their protection in this respect.

ALTITUDINOUS TRAVEL.

Frod. Colburn's Narrow Gauge Socking

Sr. Louis, Mo., March 28 .- Those who live on the line of the Narrow Guage Railroad are agitating the question of extending the road from Grand Avenue to the Custom House. They claim that the facilities for reaching suburban homes would be greatly increased in this manner, and that the road would not be obectionable. The proposed route is through the alley between Locust street and Washington avenue The road would then pass the Exposition Building and familits passengers at the Custom House right in the heart of the city. As the managers of the road are willing to make the extension it is likely that a bill looking to the accomplishment of that object will be Introduced in the Municipal Assembly before a great winle. Among those agitating the extension are Dr. Cabanne, Colonel N. J. Colman, Howard Blossom

This road, under its new ownership and the management of the genul Fred.M. Colburn, is becoming very popular, and will materially assist in building up the numerous towns along its route west of the city, and the city will do a wise thing in granting the franchise desired.

INCREASING THEIR BURDENS. And They Shall Make Brick Without

COLUMBUS, O., March 28 .- This after roon the graded Equor tax blil came up for passage, but was bitterly opposed by many leading Democrats. After a long discussion a substitute in regard to the revenue portion of the bill was offered that a rigid tax of $100 be assessed upon every saloon-keeper in the State, no matter what the amount of his sales. The tax allows the salooalsis to sell annually three hundred kegs of beer and wine and five barrels of spirituous liquors. 'All liquor sold in excess of this quantity is to be taxed to the dealer at sixteen cents for each keg of beer or wine, and live dollars for each barrel of spirits, and the tax is made payable semi-annually. The Auditor and commissioners are constituted a board in each county to secure the en-forcement of the law. The other features of the Scott law are retained in the substitute. Most of the members in the legislature believe this the best law yet becomed for the Demograpy of Ohio, and will probably be passed in a few days.

The Pana Mayor. At Taylorville William Elgan, the may or of Pana, gave bond in the sum of $3, 000 for his appearance at the next term of court to answer to the charge of mailfeasance. This case grows out of the fact that last spring the people elected a pronibition council, which ordered the mayor to secure the services of detectives. He lid so, and in a short time every saloon man in Pana was put under arrest, tried convicted and fined. This so enraged them that they secured the indictment of

The Economy Cook Book. Messrs, L. L. Ferriss & Co., the beet and shoo dealers have issued the "Economy Cook Book," compiled by L. Delmonico, numbering 316 pages, a copy of which is before us. It is published to be presented by the firm to their customers. It contains many valuable recipes, and some poetry of which the following is a stanza: "OLD SHOES,"

"OLD SHOES."

How much a man is like old shoes!
For instance: Both it sool any lose;
Inch have been manned; both are made tight
lly cobbiners; both gut left and right;
Both nood a mate to be complete,
And both are made to go on feet.
They both need beeing, oft are sold.
And both in time turn all to moid.
With shoes the last is list; with men
The list shall be the last; and when
The shoes wear out they're mendend, too.
They both are trod upon, and both
Will tread on others, nothing loth.
Rell have their ties, and both lineline
When polyshed, in the world to shine;
And both peg ant—and would you choose
To be a mun, or be his shees?
